BRAZILIAN SIDE OF IGUASSU FALLS

Panoramic views

The geo formation of the Falls created a sort of U turn canyon where the 274 falls are, the main difference from Brazil to Argentina perspectives is that in Brazil all the way from the beginning to the end of the walk You will be standing right in front of the Falls, the whole time.

The length of the walk at the Brazilian side is about one mile (1.6 km) with a couple of steps up, most of it not physically demanding, easy for everyone to do it. Average time one hour and a half

Devil's Throat

One of the highlights of Iguassu Falls it's a loop fall area called The Devil's Throat.

It would be the Horse Shue of Niagara Falls. Besides the outstanding view from Argentina (on top of it) You can get a nice upfront perspective from Brazil.

The Catwalk

Right at the end of the walk at the Brazilian side You will be at a catwalk which is the closest point You will get to the Falls. Yeah there is some spray from the Falls, nothing to wet but be always prepare in case You have in ear devices or cameras and cell phones. At the end of the catwalk, down to the last view point You will get a upfront view the the Devil's Throat.

Panoramic Elevator

After You finish the sightseeing at the catwalk all You have got to do is to go to the Elevator tower, located on your left. No need to pay for this service, just line up and wait for your turn. It works automatically so get in and it will go up on it's own. If the line is to big You can walk up by the stairs, it's quite bit about 180 feet up but You miss the waiting. Do not worry about the souvenir shop at the elevator, it's always very busy, at the end of the tour there will be another one, with the exact same products.

The Quatis

Most of people do not realize the damage on feeding wild life, in one hand They wanna take a picture so They offer food to get animals around at the other the wild life gets spoiled with Junkie Food and stop going after their natural diet, sugar and salt free. Recent studies showed up that one of the most iconic members of Iguassu Falls's wild life is already having Diabetic Problems, can You believe it?

Brazilian Side step by step

8:30A.M - AT THE VISITOR'S CENTER, OUR TOUR GUIDE GETS THE TICKETS

Arrive at the Iguazu National Park around 08:30a.m. Usually there is a big line for those not having a private tour organized hence They have to stand in the regular line to pay the Entrance Fee of the Brazilian National Park. Having a private service organized You may relax, our tour guides can do that for You much faster because there is a cashier exclusive for local tour operators.

09:15A.M - ARRIVAL AHEAD OF EVERYONE ELSE AT THE WALK

One of the many vantages of doing the Brazilian Side in a private tour is being able to be ahead of those big tour groups. Most of them have to get the regular transportation of the National Park in order to go back 'n' forth among tours. Having a vehicle exclusive just for You and your family changes the whole experience. Enjoying the falls with minimum of noise and people as possible is much better.

10:45A.M - FINISH THE SIGHTSEEING WALKING TOUR AT THE BRAZILIAN SIDE

One hour and a half it's time enough to enjoy the Brazilian Side. Once You finish the sightseeing walking tour You can organized time with your tour guide in order to do the famous Macuco Boat Ride.

Tips and insights

- If You are staying in a hotel at the Argentine Side it will take around 1 hour to cross the border.
- From November the 4th 2018 to February the 17th 2019 it's the Brazilian Day light Saving, so Brazil will be one hour ahead of Argentina.
- At the cashier of the Brazilian National Park They accept foreign currency with passports and credit card for the payment of the Entrance Fee.
- Public buses, in Brazil or Argentina are not usually on time, hard to figure out the right timing, specially once crossing the border.
- The volume of water at Iguassu depends 70% on rainfall and since there is no dry season You may come all year around.
- If You can avoid coming to Iguassu Falls around Easter, it is the most popular and busy time around the falls with almost 10 thousand people in the National Parks per day.
- Follow the suggestion of our step by step and contract a private service in order to enjoy the Brazilian side much easier and better than everybody else.
- The boat ride at the Brazilian side does not have the same restrictions as the Argentine one and it offers a lift service "cable-car" as an access to the Deck where it is the boarding on the boat.

Instead of worrying and working to solve all those problems You can always hire a Private Service and let us to all of that for You!
